Reflections on COP27: An opportunity to think about next steps.

Speaker: Lydia Perris Social Justice and Creation Care Officer at the Diocese of Exeter

Lydia is passionate about healthy people and environments, and was privileged to attend COP27, the internationally recognised climate conference that happened in November 2022 in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt. As an official observer, she had the opportunity to network, listen to and learn from delegates around the world on climate science, communication and action. She will be sharing her reflections on the conference itself and the wider themes it brought up, including the relationship to faith and the role Christian communities have in addressing environmental injustices.
